Barkley Winner Over Chandler In Kentucky Primary Fight

Roosevelt Help Boosts Barkley To Scant Victory

Vote Totals Half Million,
Barkley Thought Winner
By Bare 50,000

CHANDLER FAILS IN BITTER FIGHT

President Roosevelt Campaigned Personally In Effort To Help His Leader

(International News Service)
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 8.—
The greatest majority ever given a Kentucky Democratic primary candidate appeared likely for U. S. Sen. Alben W. Barkley today as election workers resumed tabulation of votes in Saturday's senatorial race.

Barkley held a 38,764-vote lead over Gov. A. B. Chandler. In 3,375 out of 4,310 precincts counted before the tabulation was recessed Saturday midnight the vote was 226,655 to Chandler's 187,891.

Some To Come.

Of the remaining 936 precincts 553 are in Jefferson county, a Barkley stronghold. Only 68 precincts have been tabulated there and they gave Barkley 6,047 to Chandler's 1,698.

The heavy Democratic vote, which poll workers estimated might exceed 550,000, saw Chandler fall even in areas where he had been victorious in the 1935 gubernatorial race.

Two counties which did not attempt a tabulation Saturday will open ballot boxes today. In Breathitt county the count was delayed because of the slaying of Lee Combs, election official, last Thursday night. A squabble after the polls closed held up Hart county's vote.

Gov. Chandler remained at the executive mansion in Frankfort, where he was expected to issue a formal statement regarding Saturday's vote. He declined comment late Saturday, further than to say the election was not over.

Barkley Tells Roosevelt.

Sen. Barkley rested at his Paducah home, where he received congratulatory messages including one from American Ambassador William C. Bullitt. He said he had telegraphed President Roosevelt, and would return to Washington this week-end after a visit in Louisville.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Former Sheriff Robert M. Whaley is another old timer who remembers Morgan's raid, and the excitement it caused in New Castle. "I was going to the Episcopal church for vices opened Rev. Adery, the pastor, announced that Morgan was com-lection of the "old stone corner" mentioned in a recent issue of The

In one of the most heated primaries in Kentucky in years U. S. Senator Alben W. Barkley, (left) defeated Governor A. B. "Happy" Chandler for the Democratic nomination to the Senate. The campaign was marked with mud-slinging, charges of corruption and an alleged attempt to poison Chandler. Barkley had the

Charge Coercion By Security Head

Social Security Board To Investigate Conditions In Ohio

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The Social Security Board today announced that it had decided to summon Henry J. Berroldin, head of the State Department of Public Welfare of Ohio, and two of his assistants to Washington for examination in the forthcoming board investigation into alleged political coercion of Ohio's old age pensioners.

Governor Martin L. Davey, author of one of two "open" letters to pensioners which roused the board's ire, will not be asked to appear, the board disclosed. The inquiry will center on the activities Berroldin's department and any part Davey plays in the hearings will be voluntary, it was emphasized.

Names of Berroldin's two assistants who will be asked to testify were not made public. The trio will be ordered to testify before the full board and if they fail to appear, federal old age grants to Ohio, running more than $3,000,000 monthly, will be suspended, a board member said.

"Formal notice of the hearings will be sent to Berroldin sometime this week," the member asserted.
"It amounts to a subpoena. If there is a refusal to appear, Ohio will be dropped from the rolls."

varied one. Demonstrations by equipment manufacturers, sight seeing tours, banquet, a Dutch lunch, smoker, a dance, a boxing contest and a huge parade fill the three days they will be in New Castle.

Both paid firemen and volunteers of New Castle are co-operating in the arrangements for the convention.

For weeks committees have been at work preparing the program, sending out announcements to about one hundred fire departments, tak-

STATE PROBE DEVELOPMENTS

(International News Service)
Developments today in Pennsylvania's legislative-judiciary dispute:

1—Judge Schaeffer ruled legislative acts one and four—those changing grand jury procedure and suspending the Dauphin county grand jury probe of the Earle administration—unconstitutional.

2—Judge Schaeffer refused to vacate his motions forbidding District Attorney Shelley and former Attorney General Margiotti to testify before the legislative investigating committee. He also refused to vacate his motion forbidding the legislative committee access to the grand jury evidence.

3—Judge Schaeffer ruled Bard's motion to supersede Shelley was not applicable in this case, but did not rule on the constitution-ality of act three, the one under which Bard acted.

4—The Dauphin county grand jurors met to open the county probe of the Earle administration, were addressed briefly by Judge Schaeffer, and then dismissed until Thursday to give the legislature and administration time to appeal.

5—It was expected administration and legislative leaders would immediately appeal the rulings to the state supreme court. They expressed confidence the supreme court would not uphold Judge Schaeffer.

Ruth Commission Ends Survey Of Judiciary

By WATSON FENDMORE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8.—In sweeping condemnation of "numerous questionable practices by clerks of courts, district attorneys, court officials and courts," the joint Ruth legislative commission today ended an 18-month, $50,000 investigation of criminal justice administration in Pennsylvania.

Presenting its findings in a 157-page report to Gov. George H. Earle, the commission covered the entire field of alleged abuses in the commonwealth's jurisprudence, procedure and recommended 10 major reforms affecting Pennsylvania's criminal law for submission to the next session of the state legislature.

Would Create Council

Chief among these was the recommendation that Pennsylvania follow the lead of 25 other states in creating a judicial council, to be charged with the principal duty of studying, investigating and taking steps to reform court practice in the state.

Conditions that drew the fire of the commission, formed by a joint legislative resolution in March, 1937, included lack of codification of Pennsylvania criminal law, the state's parole and probation systems, lack of reform of penal institutions and a host of abuses running from covert substitution and embriacery of jurors to reconsidered sentences for convicted prisoners and unwarranted postponements of trials.

The report was signed by Chas. A.
Keyes, of Kansas City, counsel, and four members of the eight-man commission, including its chairman, State Senator Frank W. Ruth, of Berks county, with unanimous approval of its contents.

Four Do Not Sign

Two of the non-signing commissioners reportedly objected to the reports failure to include names and dates involved in its disclosures, while the two remaining members announced they declined to sign because they had attended an insufficient number of commission meetings.

quarters representative of the National Salesmen's Crusade, was announced today as the principal speaker for Tuesday night's rally of New Castle business and club leaders, at which plans for the local "Sales Mean Jobs" campaign will be developed and launched.

The public meeting will be held in The Castleton Tuesday at eight
p. m., with the New Castle Junior Chamber of Commerce as chief sponsor. Co-operating is the local Retail Merchants' association and other groups.

More than 11 different trade and civil bodies have been extended invitations to hear Goodman, Secretary L. J. Lewis of the Junior Chamber said.

Presley N. Jones, Junior Chamber president, is expected to preside at the meeting.

Brought Results Elsewhere

Already a success in more than 500 cities, the National Salesmen's Crusade is sweeping into all sections of the country. The movement is intended to emphasize the sales-men's importance in our national life.

Scores of cities have turned in glowing reports of business improvement where the crusade has been waged.

Three active committees—one a planning committee and others to handle financial and a publicity phases of the drive—will be appointed at tomorrow evening's meeting, Secretary Lewis said.

Present plans of leaders are to have the local drive under way on or about August 18.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Mrs. Wal-mobile manufacturer, suffered a stroke early today and later was reported in an iron lung and gravely

Symptoms in each case were the same, he said.

Mrs. Chrysler was at the family home at Kings Point, N. Y., when she suffered the stroke and an in-

Millions Damage In Manila Fire

Unchecked Fire Causing Many To Lose Homes In Section Of Island
Capital

(International News Service)
MANILA, Aug. 8.—Still raging unchecked late today, great fires in a section of Manila and the provincial town of San Pablo robbed more than 1,000 families of their homes and caused an immense property loss.

Reports reaching here were that half of San Pablo, a town of 22,000 population in Laguna province, had been wiped out. The loss there was said to already be $500,000, with 1-000 homes and a portion of the business district destroyed.

Officials made no estimate of the loss in the Tondo district in Manila, where several hundred families now are homeless and the number was certain to increase as the fire continued to spread.

Mission Conference In Second Week

Over 900 Attend Sunday Features

Young People From Wide Area In Attendance At Missionary Conference

BOYS ARE HOUSED IN TWENTY TENTS

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa. Aug. 8.—The 32nd annual New Wilmington Missionary Conference went into its second week today, following a Sunday dinner of approximately 900 students, leaders and delegates, that consumed 900 pounds of chicken.

Attending the conference are 700 regular delegates from a 150 mile radius of New Wilmington, 125 leaders and 150 part-time attenders. Among these attenders are 135 missionaries and faculty members.

In Twenty Tents
On the Westminster athletic field in 20 tents is Camp Suez for boys, taking its name from the "su" of Sudan, the "es" of Egypt and the "in" of India. Boys are housed 19 in each sixteen foot square tent, supervised by a leader to each group. All women are being housed in Hillside and Browne Hall dormitories, fraternity houses and town residences. Meals for over 900 delegates are being served in the college gymnasium, with the assistance of 40 waiters and 20 women cooks.

Food required for a single breakfast averages 200 cantaloupes and 12 pounds of coffee; 300 pounds of steak for one dinner; and approximately 2,000 pounds of butter for the entire conference period, August 5-12.

The purpose of the convention, according to Rev. Wilbur Christy, Westminster graduate and business manager of the session, is to teach the real purpose of the Mission field. Prominent among those on the summer faculty are Dr. H. Ray Sheer, Cration Heights U. P. church, Rev. Donald A. Spencer, Point Breeze Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh; and Mrs. J. P. White, editor of the Women's Missionary magazine, Rev. S. C. Weir of Dearborn, Mich., is conference chairman; Miss Ethel Forbes, Pittsburgh, dean of women, and Miss J. Taylor, nationally known church worker and editor, a lecturer, spending his 17th year with the conference.

All Young People
Age-limits of those living in the camp or dormitories is from 15 to 25; and the conference fees are four dollars for each delegate. The daily morning routine opens with devotions and an athletic "daily dozen" at 7 o'clock, followed at 7:15 with a dip in the swimming pool. Breakfast begins at 7:45 and classes open at 8 o'clock. Following dinner at 12:30, sports and social events take up the afternoon; tennis, basketball, swimming, picnics, corn roasts, watermelon feasts and general recreation.

Each evening at 5:30 comes supper, followed by conference songs.

and vespers at 8:45. Tabernacle meetings for all delegates are held at 7:45 each evening in the Big Tent. From 9 to 9:50 is "social hour" set aside for strolling, chatting, and refreshments. All girls must be in the dormitories by 9:50, and boys by 10:05. At 10:30 comes taps, and "lights out."

Manager of the conference Rev. Wilbur Christy, graduate of Westminster in 1934 and Pittsburgh-Xenia seminary in 1937, will leave for the Punjab region in India September 13. He will take with him to India his wife, formerly Marjorie Scott, of Cleveland Heights, a graduate of Westminster college, 1935.

In a total vote of nearly half a million, Barkley is figured to have won by some 50,000 votes. That is no great margin considering the size of the vote cast. It is at once a tribute to the popularity of "Happy" Chandler, and a demonstration of the potency of the Roosevelt blessing. Without that Roosevelt accolade there is scant doubt but that Chandler would have "taken" the veteran Barkley. No president ever went down the line for a favored lieutenant any more than did Mr. Roosevelt for his senatorial leader.

With Gov. Chandler on the platform beside him, the president pleaded with Kentucky voters to send Barkley back to the senate. He said that "Happy" could wait. Apparently they have sent him back by a rather short margin, for the Democratic nomination in Kentucky this year is considered the equivalent to election.

Possible For 1940?
Inevitably, the renomination of Barkley projects him into the 1940 presidential picture, which already is getting crowded—always provided, of course, that Mr. Roosevelt is not a candidate.

In view of Saturday's primary, Barkley undoubtedly will be Kentucky's "favorite son" in 1940. Even he has been the keynote of Democratic national conventions. He has been in congress for more than a quarter of a century. Although not extremely popular, he is rated an extremely able legislator. He knows the business of government. Even his opponents concede him that.

dip at normal speed it proceeded up the next incline under its own momentum, then, just as it neared the top it stopped and rolled back down again, going back and forth between the two dips several times.

Women began to scream and Serch got up from his seat three times, police said.

"If this thing doesn't stop soon, sis," he was quoted as saying, "I'm going to take hold of you."

He then fell or jumped as the coaster was again on its way to the bottom, police said.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Down, and one of his stocks in trade that appealed to the younger fry was "molasses taffy." He made it himself, in bars about one inch wide and three inches long. The boys of the time used to gather up old iron and sell it to get money to buy this taffy. Down later moved to a one-story frame building that stood on the present site of the Pearson building. His taffy trade followed him, and he did a thriving business in it for many years.

An effort is being made to have the government appropriate $100,000 to rebuild the "Niagara" from whose blood stained decks Commodore O. H. Perry penned the immortal message, "We have met the enemy and they are ours." The old ship lies rotting on the shores of Lake Erie, and is coming into the limelight again as preparations for the 150th anniversary of the battle are being made at Erie, Pennsylvania. Appropriated $50,000 for reconstruction of the ship and workmen labored two years rebuilding the hull, a task which originally took Perry's men but a few weeks. The appropriation was cut to $20,000 and when the money ran out the work was abandoned. It would appear that one hundred thousand could be spent to better advantage than in rebuilding this old ship which nobody seems to have had enough interest in to keep in repair.

Steve Cap, a 14 year old boy, went swimming in Racoon creek near Anbridge, Beaver county, and did not have a dime to pay a farmer for the privilege. He was arrested, taken before a justice of the peace, and fined $5. Since he had no dime for swimming he had no $5, and so he was committed to jail for thirty days. That's the story told Judge Henry H. Wilson by county commissioner Howard A. Hunter, of Beaver county, who wants to relieve the county from keeping him for thirty days. At last account no decision had been made. How would you decide?

Pa. News knows a woman who is always well dressed and who is generally the envy of her women friends. Yet this woman actually spends less for her clothes than any of her envious neighbors. The wherefore of the why lies in the fact that she reads the advertisements in the News. She makes it a part of her daily routine each evening. She often saves a fourth or more on necessities by anticipating her immediate needs and buying articles advertised at special prices. Some call it "enterprise," others "get up," but it's common sense, and the means of saving under any name, and this woman knows it.

A New Castle motorist who has just returned from a trip through the south, came back full of watermelon, which he found to be selling at very low prices. In Orlando, Fla., he says merchants were selling big juicy melons two feet long at ten cents apiece or three for a quarter. He asked a grocer what he paid for the melons. The grocer said he sent his own truck out and gathered the big ones in the field, for which he paid three and four cents apiece. It seems that there is a surplus crop in that section and the melons are rotting in the fields. So if you want to fill up on cheap watermelon, drive down to Orlando.

Here in Pennsylvania where we are getting hunkered paying taxes, it's a relief to learn of some state where taxes are not the white man's burden. That state is Nebraska. There they have no income tax, no sales tax, no cigarette tax, no other special excise taxes, and no bonded debt, and yet it provides its citizens with an adequate old age pension and what is needed in the way of direct relief. While it is not so stated, it is probable that there are no "graters" in Nebraska, and that's why the taxpayers find life worth living.

Traffic on the highways between Zelenople and the Junction of routes 422 and 19, was very heavy Sunday. The proposed widening of the highway between Portersville and the Junction will doubtless be a welcome improvement for the ever increasing traffic, and lessen the danger from accidents.

Saw a race Saturday afternoon, between a passenger car and a large truck, along East Washington St., from Arlington Avenue. The truck led the car in the bunch before reaching Maryland Avenue. Some more folks flirting with death.

Owen Fox reports that there were quite a number of picnics held at Gaston Park last week. There were also a few gatherings together for corn roasts.

Councilman W. H. Dunlap voiced opposition, stating that "the city cannot find $20,000 on a bush."

Mayor Charles E. McGrath stated that if something were not done a flood there might ensue as the Mahoning river has left its course.

Councilman Joseph D. Alexander told Dunlap that "I have asked several times that something be done at the plant and nothing has been done. Some of these days" Alexander continued "damage will cause the taxpayers a good many thousands of dollars."

Council sent the request to committee and Councilman J. L. Fink will inspect the city's finances before the request for WPA approval is presented.

Japanese Boat Is Hunting For Missing Clipper

(International News Service)
TOKYO, Aug. 8.—The Japanese steamer Canberra Maru sent a radio message to Tokyo today saying it was searching in the area around Douglas reef, about 800 miles south of here, for the lost Pan American air liner Hawaii Clipper, but so far had found no trace of the lost airship.

Bad weather and high waves impeded the search, which was carried out despite doubts of officials that the missing plane would be found. Fishing vessels also participated in the hunt.

MISS SUZANNE ORR IS WED AT BELLEVUE HOME

Of interest to the older New Castle families is the news of the marriage of Suzanne Breckenridge Orr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Marmaduke Orr of Bellevue, to Robert R. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Phillips of Carlsburg, which was solemnized Saturday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents.

Dr. Robert Ferguson, Galbreath of Westminster college, read the marriage service, and the house was decorated for the event with garden flowers.

The bride wore a gown of turquoise blue mousseline de soie, made princess style, with puffed sleeves. In her hair she wore a circlet of flowers and she carried a Colonial bouquet of summer flowers.

Mrs. Whiting Holt, her sister's maid of honor, wore pink lace trimmed with turquoise, and in her hair a wreath of flowers. She carried an arm bouquet of blue delphinium and other garden flowers.

Gilford Hagemann of Kenosha, Wis., served as best man.

The bride's parents were formerly well-known local residents, and the news of her marriage attracts the attention of a large number of friends here.

Young Mr. and Mrs. Phillips are on a wedding trip to the west, to visit Banff and Lake Louise, and upon their return they will receive their friends in the Wendover apartments, Pittsburgh.

TRIST REUNION

Saturday afternoon, August 6, the Trist family reunion was held at Gaston Park, at which there were about thirty-five in attendance. Games were the diversion of the afternoon, also some candid camera "shootings." There were families present from Canton, O., Ellwood City and this city. All were agreed that they had a wonderful day.

FORMER TEACHER WEDS AT WASHINGTON, PA.

The wedding of Mary Alice Neill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Elmer Neill, of Canonsburg, to James Reed Donaldson, of Washington, Pa., which was solemnized Saturday afternoon, August 6, at 4 o'clock in the Canonsburg United Presbyterian church, is of interest to her many friends in this city.

Rev. Joseph McCalmont, of Glenashaw, a relative of the bride, performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. H. Ross Hume, pastor of the Canonsburg church. Preceding the service, Marion McMurray, of Canonsburg, accompanied by Grace Williams, church organist, sang appropriate vocal selections.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attended by Ruth Brown, of Pittsburgh, as maid of honor, and Margaret Donaldson, sister of the groom, and Blodwen Davis, of this city, as bridesmaids.

Dr. O. T. McDonough, of Washington served as best man, and ushers were Robert M. Neill and Edward C. Neill, brothers of the bride.

Russell Spillman, of Pittsburgh, and Andrew Wallace, of Mr. Leonard.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents, with covers laid for fifty guests, followed the ceremony.

The bride, a graduate of Westminster College, was a member of the Princeton High school faculty until moving to Canonsburg, where she holds a similar position in the Canonsburg High school, four years ago.

Mr. Donaldson was graduated from Washington and Jefferson College and the University of Pittsburgh School of Law. Since his admittance to the bar, he has been a practicing attorney in Washington.

After an eastern wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson will reside in Washington.

LEESE-DAVIS WEDDING TAKES PLACE SATURDAY

On Saturday, August 6, a quiet wedding ceremony took place in the First Christian church of Ellwood City, when two New Castleites, Miss Marjorie B. Leese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Leese, of 906 Croton avenue, became the bride of Harry C. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Davis, of 1037 West Washington street.

The vows were read by the Rev. Ashley G. Booth, pastor, in the presence of the immediate families of the young couple at 3:45 o'clock. He used the single ring service.

Attired in a shell lace street length dress with horizontal, accessories and a shoulder corsage to blend, the bride was most attractive. She had as her maid of honor, Miss Betty Jane Davis, sister of the groom, who wore a contrasting blue lace, with accessories in shell pink. Her shoulder bouquet harmonized.

Ellwood Zimmerman, of this city, served the groom as best man.

Following, the bridal party motored to the Davis cottage at Rose Point where the groom's mother served a wedding dinner to the immediate families. A few special guests who shared this feature, included Mr. and Mrs. Fred Craig, of Ambridge, Rev. Booth and Thomas Carey.

The nuptial motif predominated throughout, with pink and white tones being used in all details. The traditional tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, centered the bride's table, which marked places for eighteen.

In the evening a reception was held for a gathering of a hundred friends of the newlyweds.

Dispensing with a wedding trip until fall, Mr. and Mrs. Davis are "at home" for the present at the residence of his parents on West Washington street.

Both attended New Castle high school, and he is now affiliated with Rod Davis wholesale meats concern of this city.

FORMER SCHOOL CHUMS GATHER FOR REUNION

Mrs. David Taylor, Northview avenue, entertained Saturday evening at a seven o'clock dinner in the Elks club, the event being the annual reunion of a group of former schoolmates from Stoneboro, Mercer county. There were 24 present.

Special guests were husbands of the women and Mrs. Taylor's daughters, Mrs. David Car and husband, of Youngstown, and Jane Agnes Taylor, Stoneboro, Mercer. McDonald, O. Erie and Bessmer.

Following the serving of a delicious menu, the time was spent informally with music and the singing of old songs. The table was centered with lovely flowers, flanked by tall ivory tapers.

MEXICAN SOPHISTRY

SERIOUS jeopardy confronts the "good neighbor" policy if we permit Mexico to get away with the assertion international law does not obligate "immediate compensation, or even deferred compensation" for expropriating the land of American nationals if the expropriations are "of general or impersonal character." Replying to Secretary Hull's firm note of July 21, Foreign Secretary May refuses to arbitrate under the Washington Arbitration Treaty of 1929. He takes the stand that payment is obligated only by Mexican law, with Mexico free to determine when and on what basis payment shall be made.

By implication the much more serious problem of the expropriation of the vast oil properties of Americans and other nationals is involved in any disposition of the long-standing agrarian claims. All Latin America looks on as the United States studies the sophistries of the May note, which merely offers to have a discussion of the claims by one representative each of the governments of this country and Mexico, binding on nobody and getting nowhere. The flouting of the principle of arbitration as "unlawful" because the differences are not "irreconcilable" borders on the insulting.

Mexico's thesis is that American nationals are on all fours with Mexican citizens; that they share the benefits of Mexican life and must take the same property risks when social reform, like donating land to the peasants, is in progress. Our attitude expressed in a most businesslike way in the note of Secretary Hull is that expropriation without prompt and adequate payment is "confiscation."

Our government is now confronted with the problem of successfully backing Mexico down from its present stand. The method or methods applied to its solution will depend in some measure on whether we regard the Mexican reply as in considerable part bluff. It can be assumed that our attitude will be marked by a stiffening of the firmness originally displayed by Mr. Hull. Mexico cannot be permitted to retain "face" with the rest of Latin America after making so fantastic an argument.

Nevertheless, resort to any sort of force would be a last resort. How Mexico goes about her problems of "social reform" is not our business. It is our business to see that our nationals be reasonably indemnified for property she confiscates. And we cannot be tolerant of a plea that this obligation is dependent upon or conditioned by Mexico's own interpretation of her economic ability to pay.

RATHER STUPID

That blind girl with the dog is coming home. The English authorities wouldn't admit the dog which guides her, because of a six-month quarantine rule to prevent rabies. So the blind girl couldn't go ashore, and she and her dog have remained aboard ship at London.

If, as an English newspaper has pointed out, exceptions are made in the case of performing dogs, for what reason couldn't an exception have been made in this case? What greater performance could a dog give than guide his blind mistress?

One needn't be a xenophobic to regret that the British Government decided thus. An appeal to the King failed. To what pains and expense does England go to cultivate American good will, and how it all can be put to the hazard through the intransigence of a few bureaucratic minds!

QUEEN OF THE THRILLERS

It is so long ago that the American movie public last saw Pearl White that this queen of the thrillers seems almost a legend. She was one of the first big money makers of the silent screen, antedating Charles Chaplin by a year. The blond heroine of almost countless daring episodes in the "Perils of Pauline" and "Exploits of Elaine" was enormously popular. The growth of the movies in the second decade of this century was phenomenal, and there probably came a day when Miss White could truthfully say more people had seen her than seen any other performer, alive or dead.

Inevitably the strain of her work took a heavy physical toll. Here was before the day when "doubles" took the risks and stars got the credit. She may have been impressed by Mark Twain's remark that Paris is where all good Americans go when they die. She did not wait to become passe or to take the risk of switching from silent drama to the "talkies." She anticipated the Mark Twain formula and went to Paris when the going was good.

She was rich, she was still young and good to look upon, and she enjoyed herself with the gay set at the capital and in Deauville. Here was the exact reward the former Little Eva and circus bareback rider wished, and she had earned it. It will surprise many who think of her as belonging to a rather distant past to learn she was not yet 50.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

MAKING CHILD CONFESS

Of all bad practices of parent, teacher or principal, the worst is to put the child on the witness stand—to compel him to confess when all necessary facts to establish his guilt are on hand. Then, when the finally does "come up," he is told by the bullying parent, teacher or principal, "I knew you did it, for I had the facts. I just wanted to prove to you that you can't fool me." Such tormentors have enjoyed torturing the child in much the same manner as does the cat when first slightly irritating the mouse, lets it struggle to escape, runs after it, then crushes it again, and so on until it can move no more.

I suppose confession is good for your soul, my soul, and the child's when we have chosen to confess of our own accord—not when we have been coerced.

So set the stage that the child will want to confess and will feel safe in doing so. Then he will be happier, and so will you. Otherwise you will make a hypocrite of him and lose his comradeship.

Provided you believe your child has done something wrong and you can ascertain the facts only through him, don't ask him about the matter. If you have the facts, don't ask him. Merely tell him that he has done wrong and proceed as you are sure is wise. Whether or not, therefore, you have the facts in regard to some actual or supposed delinquency of his, never ask him to testify against himself. Courts of justice don't compel an adult to incriminate himself. Why should parents go on doing so with children? There is no good reason but to make liars of children and to lose their love.

Other Extreme Bad

Don't, however, go to the opposite extreme and say to the child, "If you always tell me the truth, I won't punish you." Such a statement implies that at other times he does lie, and suggests that he might properly do any wrong if he can apprise you of it before you learn of it otherwise.

But are we going to let the child "go away with the long run" he will regard, for in most instances he will outwit the prosecutor and the detective.

Think not of this instance. Think of its effect upon the future, its effect upon the relationship between you and him. If you suspect that your child has done something naughty but you have no objective evidence, drop the matter. Be more vigilant, however, and surround him with protection from temptation. From habit he will probably repeat the deed. Try to be on hand to deal effectively with the offense.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

A WOMAN FOR PRESIDENT! The American woman may be the Nation's No. 1 budget specialist and domestic finance expert, but an American woman for president?

"Never!" is the emphatic cry of some 50,000 parents who were asked that very question by the Child Welfare League of America the other day.

If the American woman wants a career—and you'll find thousands of them foot-footing it in that direction after June commencement—there's no objection to that from the 50,000 mothers and fathers.

That, we say, is most fortunate, for the ladies are sweeping in that direction and have been for years. We have a woman director of the U. S. Mint, women university presidents, women representatives in Congress.

As for being the Nation's No. 1 budget specialist and finance expert, the American woman has virtually pre-empted that field. To her belong more than half the incomes more than $100,000 in the United States. To her, actuaries pay more than $800,000 annually. She inherits the share of 65 per cent of all estates. Eighty-five cents out of every dollar that finds its way into the cash registers of Pennsylvania's merchants is spent by her. It is her shrewd appraisal of modern marketing methods that has helped give America its co-ordinated retail systems with their market-busting distributive channels, multiplying wealth as well as markets for our producers.

As director of the budget for America's pocketbooks, the American woman reigns supreme. So don't let her abdicate, urge 50,000 parents in opposing a woman for president.

As chief executive, she might grow careless with our purse-strings.

Fifty thousand parents can't be wrong.

HOLLYWOOD—Wallace Ford, actor, sees a future for the stage:

States Clash With Government
Recent Events Cause Wonderment
Pennsylvania Has Internal Fight

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The federal government and the governments of two separate states have come pretty near to actual physical clashes in the last few days.

The two states were not united, as the southern states were in the 1860's.

Nevertheless, quite an exciting situation is created when the authorities of an individual state warn the authorities of the United States, to keep out of their local affairs, or in effect, take the consequences. For two states to do it at once is all the more exciting.

The states, as we know, were Tennessee and Iowa.

At the same time Pennsylvania was verging on something like "civil war," but that particular threat was intra-state in character, not friction between the state itself and Uncle Samuel.

Before Edgar Bergen got famous he was owner and guardian of three dummies, one a femme hunk of wood named Laura, another named Glimmer, and a third known as Charlie. Before the last named acquired the surname of McCarthy—and rode his two mates into oblivion—Quick, now, what's a word in common usage containing four U's? And if you give up, the word is "unscrupulous." A check-up made by an important Toronto bank shows one out of every 10 persons entering its doors either filled his fountain pen with the bank's free ink or took away a penholder with pen.

Club up: The Anglo-Norse, a super-what's-what of Norway these days, has a record of having snagged 1,000,000 worth of whale oil in a single two-months' voyage in the Indian ocean.

One inch of rain, mentioned so glibly by the weather bureau, will deposit 226.52 pounds of water on a single acre of land. The planet Mercury keeps the same face toward its sun all the time, with the result it has no alternating day and night.

Thanks to the accord of the Rome-Berlin axis, Italy is overrun with German tourists these days. But Hitler's Nazi government "benignly" limits them to spending not more than 400 marks a month in touring.

VACATION

First, for early fishing rise When the dawn is in the skies And at eight, whatever you've taken, Hurry back for eggs and bacon. Change your clothes for golf, and then

Swimming time and change again. After lunch—how dull my pen is— Rush through several sets of tennis. Then write letters until four

When it's time to swim once more. Say battle now till five and then hurry home to dress again. Now if rightly planned the day

This time you are dressed to stay. Bridge till midnight, or perchance You are more inclined to dance.

All right, dance! But we shall knock At your door at four o'clock.

Though for sleep you may be wishing— Don't forget we're going fishing!

This is what throughout the nation Is considered a vacation.

This is what (nor am I jesting!) Is all summer known as "resting."

H. G. Coates Is Still Improving

Recovering Nicely From Injuries Sustained Last Week
Near Chicago

Friends here will be interested to learn that former Alderman H. G. Coates, who was injured by an automobile at Maywood, Ill., a suburb of Chicago, is improving nicely at the home of his son, Hiram Coates, 1001 South Fifth avenue, Chicago, where he was visiting.

Mr. and Mrs. Coates were in Maywood visiting their son for a few weeks and on Sunday evening of last week Mr. Coates was taking a short walk, near the Coates residence. When crossing the street about 8:30 o'clock in the evening he was struck by a car.

He was removed to the Westlake hospital in Maywood, where he received medical attention. X-ray pictures show there are no bones broken, but he is badly bruised. Mr. Coates is still under the doctor's care, but continues to show steady improvement, thus enabling him to be removed to the home of his son from the hospital. It will be some time before he will be about, however.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Aug. 8.—Pennsylvania's sensational charges of graft and corruption leveled against the governor, high cabinet officials, and Democratic party leaders has now entered its fourth month and the end is still not in sight. Long months of judicial litigation and legislative controversy appear in the offing.

When Mayor S. Davis Wilson, insurgent Democratic candidate for U. S. Senator in the Democratic primary, inferred Gov. George M. Earle had borrowed $20,000 from Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., Philadelphia Democratic leader and wealthy contractor, he touched off a spark which resulted a short time later in charges by another candidate, Charles J. Margiotti, that two cabinet officials were guilty of accepting bribes. That in turn touched off a long train of events which brought about a grand jury investigation, a special session of the legislature, a legislative investigation, and a raging controversy over authority between the governor and legislature on the side and the judiciary on the other.

More than $4,000,000 has been spent in wages by the general state authority, it announced here, on 80 projects now under construction. Of this amount, $1,387,000 was paid to workers formerly on relief.

The Reading housing authority is also steadily forging ahead, housing officials here stated, and loan contracts are now being drawn up for early presidential approval.

Whether the ticket of the socialist labor party or that of the socialist party shall appear on the fall ballot is still undetermined. The socialist party has brought suit in Dauphin county court seeking to remove the other party's slate. The socialist labor party stole a march on the other group when it filed its nominating petitions first. When the socialist party appeared with its petitions, they were not admitted on the grounds the party was already represented.

Three of the state's projected $86,000,000 federal-state low cost housing program have already reached the stage where actual plans for the buildings are already being made ready for final approval by the U. S. housing authority. They are the Allentown, Pittsburgh, and Philadelphia projects. It is hoped to make the dirt fly early in September.

One man, deeply concerned in the current happenings, has hitherto kept entirely aloof of them. He is Charles Alvin Jones, Democratic candidate for governor and his chances for success in November depend in good part on whether the Democratic party is able to clear itself of the charges brought against it. Jones is at the Offway Island, at Georgian Bay, Ontario, fishing and boating and he is making no comments on the present situation.

One sidelight of the first week's session of the legislature revolves around Homer S. Brown, Negro Democratic house member who voted against all of the administration's bills to suspend a grand jury investigation of the Earle administration. At the same time Brown delivered a verbal attack in the house against the bills. As a result, Brown, who already holds the Democratic nomination in Pittsburgh's Negro hill district, today was being talked of as the recipient of Republican support. One Republican ward chairman declared himself in favor of asking one of the two Republican candidates in the Negro district to withdraw in favor of Brown.

Seth Gordon, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania game commission and nationally-known authority on game and fish conservation, is commemorating 25 years of service in behalf of wild life. He began his career with the Pennsylvania game commission in 1913. In 1931 he became president of the American Game Commission, a position he held until 1935.

On Court House Hill

Miss Emma Carson, Deputy Prothonotary, does not forget her friends when she goes on a vacation. A postcard, marked London, Canada, was received at the prothonotary's office Saturday.

County commissioners are making a tour of the Moravia-Gallia road today. This road is being improved and there are some claims for damages coming into the office. The commissioners are making a check-up to ascertain the merit of the claims.

Three more settlements of claims for damages by reason of the widening of the New Castle-Youngstown road in Union township, have been settled by the county commissioners. The majority of the claims have now been settled, but there are several of the larger ones over which no agreement has been reached, and it may be necessary to settle them in the courts.

Quite a number of complaints have been received at the county commissioners' office from persons against whom tax liens have been filed in former years. When a real estate sale is effected it is usually the custom of those interested to inquire at the county treasurer's office for taxes due. It seems that in giving out these taxes former treasurers have overlooked some of them.

Attorney Gilbert Long, guardian for Donald C. Lusk, son of Mrs. Mary Lusk, a beneficiary under the will of the late Sobieski Lusk, has presented a petition in court in which a citation is asked on Jennie Bell Lusk, executrix of the Sobieski Lusk will to show cause why an examination of her accounts connected with the handling of the estate, should not be permitted. No wrong doing is charged, against Mrs. Lusk, but the guardian feels that he should see how the accounts of certain rental properties are being kept. A hearing will be held on August 22.

County Registration Bureau clerk, Thomas Edmunds, reports that registrations are coming in at the rate of about 25 per day. They are mostly of persons who have not heretofore been registered, or persons who wish to change their party affiliations. Very few of those whose names have been stricken from the books for not voting during the past two years, have shown up. Some of those who come to register have evidently made up their minds how they are going to vote, for they announce, "I want to register Democrat" or "I want to register Republican." Others do not seem to have any preconceived ideas and do not name their politics until asked. During the next few weeks it is expected that a concerted action will be taken by both parties to increase the registrations.

Indications are that there will be some opposition to the tax abatement bill which has been introduced in the state legislature. This is a bill which would abate interest and penalties on delinquent taxes, as has been done by two former sessions of the legislature. The taxpayers Forum of Pennsylvania, which is leading the opposition to the bill, contends that abatement of penalties as an established legislative policy encourages delinquency and penalizes taxpayers who have paid their taxes when due, and those who have paid taxes plus penalties and interest. Those who favor the passage of the bill contend that delinquencies have been forced by economic conditions, and that there are very few who have been able to pay, who have allowed their taxes to become delinquent. In Lawrence county the abatement of interest and penalties has been a strong incentive for delinquents to catch up and the county now has collected thousands of dollars that would not doubt still be on the books, had it not been for the abatement law.

RUSSIAN TROOPS READY FOR WAR MOSCOW DECLARES

in Slepov, who single-handedly met nine planes and made them fly away, after forcing one down," he wrote.

Immediately after the foreign commissariat's rejection of renewed Japanese peace offers, Pravda, organ of the communist party, sounded this authoritative keynote:

"The Soviet Union does not want war. On the contrary, it wants to strengthen and maintain peace. But we will not agree to revision of our border.

"The Soviet Union remains quiet, certain of its power."

By DON BROWN

International News Service Staff Correspondent

Tokyo, Aug. 8.—Twenty Soviet airplanes today raided Keiko, Korea, for the third successive day, while 15,000 infantrymen and 200 tanks repeatedly but vainly attacked Japanese positions on Changkufeng hill.

Under heavy artillery barrages, a red army division repulsed several efforts to storm the shell-pitted heights, but finally was driven back 400 yards, according to the Japanese. Fifty wrecked Soviet tanks were reported lying in no man's land.

Damage to Keiko in the air raid was called negligible, but the town was ordered evacuated. Other Soviet planes, bombing and machine-gunning several Korean villages, penetrated 12 miles into Japan's colony, dispatches from Yuki charged.

Gravity of the Russo-Japanese crisis increased today as Japanese authorities announced bitter hand-to-hand fighting between Japanese and Soviet troops at Changkufeng hill on the Siberian-Manchukuoan border.

Fifteen thousand red army soldiers, with 200 tanks and 100 planes, engaged an inferior Japanese force along a four-mile front, according to dispatches from Yuki, north Korea.

Fifty wrecked tanks were reported lying in no man's land. In raiding several Korean villages, the dispatches said, Soviet planes penetrated 12 miles within Korea.

A foreign office spokesman termed the battle, which continued without let-up from 2 a. m. to 6:30 a. m., "most severe".

At that hour, said the spokesman, the Russian forces withdrew. He declared both sides suffered heavy casualties in this latest outbreak of undeclared border warfare.

At the same time, a war office spokesman officially denied as "ridiculous" a reported Moscow claim that disputed Changkufeng hill had been recaptured by units of Russia's red army.

HOLDS COURTS HAVE PRIORITY RIGHT TO PROBE OFFICIALS

ney Carl B. Shelley and former Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, among others, from testifying.

"Acts 1 and 4 passed by the special session of the legislature are unconstitutional because they provide for direct interference by the legislature with judicial powers invested by the constitution in the courts of the state.

3—Attorney General Guy K. Bard cannot supersede Republican District Attorney Carl B. Shelley of Dauphin county as provided in another act. Judge Schaeffer here cited his previous ruling of June 27 denying Bard that right. Judge Schaeffer added the legislature cannot reverse proceedings now before the court.

The act—number three—is not applicable to this case, said Judge Schaeffer, but could be applicable, he added, in a new case arising now. Judge Schaeffer's ruling, therefore, was not on the constitutionality of the act.

4—The grand jury investigation of corruption charges leveled against the "little new deal" administration of Gov. George H. Earle is to continue, the legislative act suspending it being unconstitutional.

Judge Schaeffer earlier promised, however, he would not charge the grand jurors who assembled today but would give the legislative investigation committee and the administration 48 hours to appeal.

On a motion from Attorney General Bard, Schaeffer agreed to wait until Thursday to charge the grand jury and excused them from service until then.

Judge Schaeffer did not rule on act 2, setting up a house investigating committee to investigate the corruption charges against the administration. He had earlier indicated he felt the act was constitutional and was not involved in the present proceedings.

Before dismissing the grand jurors Judge Schaeffer told them: "You have been called here for a most serious and solemn duty. I ask you to come to do your duty impartially, dispassionately and with an open mind."

Neither Shelley, Bard, Herbert B. Chas. chairman of the house investigating committee, nor either of the two committee counsel had any immediate comment to make on the jurist's rulings.

It was considered certain there would be appeals by the administration and legislature to the state supreme court. Both administration and legislative leaders earlier expressed the opinion such appeals would suspend opening of the grand jury probe indefinitely.

The legislature is to meet again tonight at 8 o'clock (EST) after a week-end recess. Verbal fireworks were expected, if not more drastic action, over Judge Schaeffer's adamant stand.

The house investigating committee will conduct its second open hearing tomorrow at 10 a. m. (EST) with Shelley and Margiotti on the witness stand. At the first hearing last Thursday, Shelley refused to testify, citing Judge Schaeffer's ban, Margiotti, whose charges during the last Democratic primary, largely precipitated the present legislative-judicial conflict, is also banned by Judge Schaeffer from testifying.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 8.—Former Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, whose charges of graft and corruption against the Earle administration precipitated the struggle between judicial and legislative branches of the state government, today had "no comment" to make on Judge Paul N. Schaeffer's rulings.

"I have no comment to make at this time," Margiotti told International News Service, "and I will still make an appearance before the legislature's investigating committee tomorrow."

"However," he added, "what I will do when I appear before the committee is another matter."

Judge Schaeffer ordered the Dauphin county grand jury probe of the Earle administration to open Thursday, thus ignoring an act of the legislature suspending it. The act was unconstitutional, he stated.

Before doing that he excused two jurors from further duty, one a woman, because of illness, and the other Jimmy DeShong, Washington baseball player. Thus he evened the political makeup of the grand jury to 11 Democrats and 11 Republicans.

OF ALL the suicidal pastimes, racing trains to crossings is the most foolish. Failure to "STOP, LOOK and LISTEN" sooner or later ends in a tie and when it does it's just too bad for the motorist.

Records Broken At Conference

New Wilmington Missionary Gathering Is The Largest Ever Held

Sunday was chicken day so far as eats were concerned at the missionary conference being held at New Wilmington. Over 900 pounds of baked chicken was consumed at the Sunday dinner for delegates. This followed a breakfast at which 200 cantaloupes and 15 pounds of corn were consumed.

This year's conference, to continue through Friday, under the management of the Reverend Wilbur Christy, of Pittsburgh, breaks all records for enrollment with 700 regular delegates, 125 leaders and 150 part-time attendants. A camp of 20 tents is set up on the Westminster College athletic field, supplemented by the college dormitories, fraternity houses and town residences. Forty waiters and 12 women cooks serve meals in the college gymnasium.

Among the conference leaders are Dr. Ray Shear, Crafton Heights United Presbyterian church, in charge of adult Bible teaching; the Reverend Donald A. Spencer, Point Breeze Presbyterian church, boys Bible hour teacher; and Mrs. J. P. White, of McKeesport, editor of the women's missionary magazine. The purpose of the conference, according to Mr. Christy, is to explain the mission field to young people.

Short Talks On Advertising

Prepared by the Bureau of Research and Education, Advertising Federation of America

WHAT IS ADVERTISING?

NUMBER 8.

A long time ago there was no advertising. Every man with something to sell had to tell people about it personally and individually. This was not a great handicap in those days, for no one had very much to sell.

But as soon as large-scale manufacturing was begun, it was necessary to find a way to tell many people about products, and to tell them quickly and all at one time. To fill this need, advertising naturally developed as a universal business process. Without it we could not operate large factories making goods for millions of consumers.

Advertising is sometimes spoken of as a special kind of business, as a separate industry supported by other lines of business. It is no such thing. All advertising is simply a part of the process of selling the products of every industry. It does the important job of telling people about merchandise and where to buy it, and it stimulates their desire to buy.

It is not enough to make goods and to transport them to places where consumers can buy them. The public must be told about the goods, how desirable they are, how people can make themselves more comfortable, more healthy, or more happy through buying them. In other words, the merchandise must be sold, not merely placed on sale. Advertising does a large part of this selling, and there is no other method that can take its place.

Since the days when there was no advertising, the quantity of goods produced has been multiplied by many, many times. Consequently each consumer's share is vastly increased. The wealth created in making the goods is distributed to consumers through payments for wages, materials, and dividends, and thus they are able to buy the greater volume of goods produced.

But merely being able to buy does not make people buy. Salesmen and advertising must be kept on the job all the time, to keep merchandise moving from factory to consumer, or the wheels will soon stop turning. The work of selling is just as important as the work of making and the work of transporting. And advertising is the only way by which the large volume of goods now being produced can be sold.

In performing its selling work, advertising shows us the way to better living by creating desires for better things. Through conveniences introduced by advertising, the burdens of housekeeping have been made easier, and the family diet has been improved. Better health and homes are more satisfactory because of the educational influence of advertising. Newspapers and magazines are sold for a few cents a copy and radio entertainment is free, because advertisers pay most of the costs of these three great mediums for advertising.

While doing all this useful and valuable work, advertising costs the consumer nothing, because it is the most economical form of selling and lowers the cost of distribution. Advertising is the voice of industry, telling us all how to live happier lives and how to make our money go farther.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1938 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

(Copyright, 1938, McNaughton Syndicate)

Comes a sprightly rumor from Hollywood that one of the most valuable human assets of this country in these times of stress, doubt and tension—Walt Disney—is to make one of his incomparable animated productions with "Alice in Wonderland" and "Through the Looking Glass" as the material and inspiration.

I hope the rumor is true, for I can scarcely think of a subject which would offer more play to Mr. Disney's supremely delightful humor and the ever-present sound and helpful philosophy of life and living which underlies that gentle humor.

Think what Mr. Disney could do with "shoes and ships and sealing wax, and cabbages and kings, and whether the sea is boiling hot and whether pigs have wings". Imagine what delightful play he could make of that famous stroll along the beach when the oysters went for a constitutional with the Walrus and the Carpenter, or Tweedledum and Tweedledee, or with Old Father William, not to mention the Mad Hatter and the Red Queen and the White Queen.

I do believe that a production of Alice would sweep the country even more amazingly than it was swept by "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs", which will gross at least $5,000,000, or so they say. No one I'm sure has contributed so much heaven-sent fun to American life, and at a time when it was badly needed, than this Irish-Canadian gentleman who first saw the light of day in Marceline, Mo., who left a little red school house to sell papers at the age of nine, worked as news "butcher" on local trains, drove an ambulance in France for the Red Cross, educated himself as an artist and went on to such phenomenal success as is seldom found outside the story books.

The existence of all of us, aged seven to seventy, would have been a lot gloomier if Mr. Disney hadn't given us Oswald the Rabbit, Mickey and Minnie Mouse, The Three Little Pigs and Snow White and her funny little gnomes. The Practical Pig is the newest of Disney's creatures, though not really a newcomer for we remember him as the sober, which he never would do, for work steady, hard-working, thrifty, prudent, always-on-the-job, always-there-when-needed little pig in that hilarious production where the villain was the Big Bad Wolf. And if he could find it in the possible and practical scheme of things to top them off with "Alice in Wonderland", he could really call it a day.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

How do you sound?
This is important to the doctor. With his indispensable instrument, the stethoscope, he hears sounds from the heart and lungs. The normal heart sounds are like this—a rhythmic click and thump. The ailing heart—irregular and jerky tempo with discordant pitch. Leaking heart valves—a swish and murmur instead of the precise and normal snap of the valves.

The lungs have different sounds. In the normal, healthy man the lungs sing a gentle lullaby. With clogged air tubes—a distressing and agitated bubbling and boiling. Inflammation in the lungs causes comparisons are always risky. It isn't a compliment to tell a celebrity he is one of your two favorites and some more the other.

School Building Program Ready For Governor This Week

Bills Approved By Senate Need House Passage

Would Have State Authority Erect Buildings And Rent Them To Districts

OTHER BILLS AWAIT ACTION BY HOUSE

By GEORGE FISHER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
HARRISBURG, Aug. 8.—Legislation to permit Pennsylvania school districts to embark on a $75,000,000 building program aided by federal grants should reach Gov. George H. Earle's desk this week.

Three bills The house when it meets tonight will have the three bills of the program on its calendar for advancement. Two are of second reading and the third, appropriating $1,000,000 to the department of public instruction for rentals, is listed for third reading.

All three measures have been approved by the senate and unless delayed by the house should reach the governor's desk by tomorrow. Such action will permit school districts to make their applications to the general state authority for construction before the September 30 deadline.

Senator Edward J. Thompson, D,

Centre sponsor of the series estimated that $75,000,000 in new school houses may result. The bills allow the state authority erect the buildings and lease them to the districts. The department's appropriation is designed to permit the state to help districts pay their rentals to the state authority for the new buildings constructed.

More Relief The house tonight is to act finally on a bill to appropriate $25,000,000 additional for unemployment relief. This sum is estimated to be sufficient to care for relief needs until early 1939. The money will come from surplus funds in the state treasury.

Three other bills on the house calendar for final action tonight are an appropriation of $300,000 for the pumping of flood water from mines and quarries, an unspecified sum to pay rentals on any additional projects that may be undertaken by the state authority at state institutions and a third to permit the Philadelphia school district to overcome court limitations on the tax rate.

While there the party made a trip to Callender, and paid a visit to the Dionne quintuplets. Those that have already returned are the Misses Virginia Allen, Mabel Morrison, Verlee Armstrong, Rosalie Ward, and Wealthea May Johnston and C. Adrian Heaton, William Brown, Max Luikart, and Rudolph Shunk; Dr. C. H. On Wednesday evening, the campers will give reports to the church, of their experiences at the camp and conference.

Thinking in national terms in statesmanship, try to reform the faults of some other section is mere self-righteous meddling.

Have You Read?

Under this heading will be reviewed in the next ten days books of the last year in the public library. No fiction will be presented.

Many books are not well known but are deserving of attention, such as Louis Adamic's, "My America." Mr. Adamic won many readers with his "Native's Return," the tale of Yugoslavia revisited.

In "My America," subtitled, "An Adventure in Understanding," he writes of the years of his citizenship in this country, during which he travelled everywhere, met notables and people of the street, the famous and the notorious, politicians and poets.

He writes of Los Angeles, New York, Cleveland, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Hollywood of President Roosevelt, ex-President Hoover, John L. Lewis, Arthur L. Morgan, Harry Bridges, Clarence Darrow, Lincoln Steffens, of Max Vanko, his murals and the Millvale Ghost, and many other persons and affairs. He also mentions New Castle.

The library ventures to prophesy that you will like "My America."

It's pleasant to see a boy grow up. He finds some way to assert himself without making a loud noise.

Eight Battles Here Tonight

Sixteen Scrappers To Exchange Blows In Grove Street Playground

SEVERAL STARS ON FISTIC CALENDAR

Fight fans of this vicinity should witness eight of the best amateur boxing bouts yet staged here when they travel to the Grove Street playground tonight to witness the public offering of the Jefferson-Moran-Kid Hutchinson scrap. The first bout will start at 8:30 p. m., and the "S. R. O." sign may be displayed before the first bell rings.

Moran has trained faithfully for tonight's battle and should be win over Hutchinson, who hails from East Liverpool, he may be given a return bout with Smokey Robinson of Oil City, who beat Moran not long ago in a rousing round of punches. Since he fought Robinson, Moran has stopped Jack Kearns and Benny Malone, both of Pittsburgh. They will box at 126 pounds.

In another bout that should be replete with thrills, Johnny Gaidle of Pittsburgh will take on Ted Delarado, of East Liverpool, who secured the East Liverpool Golden Glove championship at 145 pounds. It will be their first appearance in this city.

Another scrap that contains plenty of interest is that scheduled between Sammy Barbato, Youngstown vs. Mike Raffa, East Liverpool. They weigh 125 pounds. Barbato captured the Youngstown Golden Glove championship last winter and Raffa is reported to hold that title in East Liverpool, which augurs well for action in their first fight here.

The Gypsy Kid of Youngstown will take on Moon Robinson, of Ellwood City, in a featherweight bout. Vince Joyce will handle the Gypsy Kid and Emmett Rocco, former heavyweight, will second Robinson. Neither of them have appeared here previously.

Kowalik Vs. Wertz
Johnny Morinelli of Youngstown, who knocked out Jimmy Scutell, of Oil City, then dropped a close award to Eddie Oleski in a good fight will say it with gloves with Joe Formen of East Liverpool, in another bout. They weigh 112 pounds.

Nick Retardo of Ellwood City, who staged a punch-for-punch set to with Eddie Brant recently, will meet Johnny O'Brien of McKees Rocks, at 133 pounds. Should O'Brien live up to his reputation and Retardo swing as often as he did in his bout with Brant the fans just appetite will be appeased.

Mike Kraynack of Ellwood City, who was kayoed by Bethany Colledge's Joe Gaynor, hopes to stage a come-back by beating Frankie Karick, of Youngstown, at 135 pounds. Karick holds a knockout over Jack Matthews of Wampum, and took a close decision from Benny Bartle, Mike's fellow townsman.

Another good prospective set is that scheduled between Steve Kowalik of Pittsburgh, and Andy Wertz of Youngstown. The latter scored a knockout last Monday over Muddy Kurz of McKeesport, while Kowalik proved too good for Louis Danko, of Youngstown. They will weigh 147. Both are kayo punchers.

The referee and judges will be named shortly before the bouts go on. There will be no delay between scraps and it is anticipated that the playground will be crowded to capacity.

Pirates Win Two More And Increase Lead

Now Hold Six And Half Game Lead Over Giants In National League Race

INDIANS FOLD UP TO YANKEES 7 TO 0

By ANTHONY J. PUGLIESE International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Crushing their chief opposition as they marched upward, the Pirates and Yankees loomed as probable pennant winners today after emerging triumphant in the major league "mayfly" series.

Pittsburgh, with a six and a half game lead in the National loop, stayed off what was generally considered a last ditch fight by the Giants to tighten a steadily widening gap between them and the Bucs.

On the other hand, the Indians, traditionally a fold up team, attempted to carry the fight to the rumpaging "Ripper" Rides, but found nothing but five and a half game deficit today to show for their efforts.

Before a screaming, partisan gathering of 50,458, the Pirates dealt a double blow to the Giants hopes by winning 5 to 1 and 13 to 3. Tom Tibon held the Giants to four hits in the opener and Al Todd Pep Young and Lee Handley hit homers in a 15 hit Pittsburgh attack in the second game. Mel Ott homered in each game—his 26th and 27th—and Bill Cissell hit for the circuit for the Giants.

Gives Indians Two Hits
With Charley Ruffing holding the tribe to two hits and Lou Gehrig hitting homer No. 16, the Yankees shut out the Indians 7 to 0 for a clean sweep in the three-game series. It was the Yankee's 12th victory in 14 games on the western trip.

Hank Greenberg's 38th home run and one by Charley Gehring gave the Tigers, playing their first game under Del Baker, a 7 to 3 win over the Red Sox.

The White Sox knocked out 17 hits in the opener of a double header to beat the Senators, 14 to 5, but the Solons retaliated in the nightcap, punching out a 12 to 5 victory. Lewis homered for Washington and Berger, Lee and Rensa hit for the circuit for the Pale Hose.

Buck Newsum tried an iron man stunt, pitching a double header for the Browns. Assisted by Cliff two homers and one by McQuinn, Newsum won the opener from the Athletics, 5 to 3, but was blasted from the hill as the A's won the nightcap, 8 to 5 on a 13-hit attack featured by Bob Johnson's homer.

Cuba-Bres Split
Late inning rallies by the Dodgers produced a double triumph over the Reds, Brooklyn winning 11 to 10 and St. Louis 7 to 6. Fred Fitzsimmons captured the nightcap with a six hit pitching performance.

In the other National League contests, the Cubs celebrated Gabby Hartnett Day in Boston by splitting a double header with the Bees. The Cubs took the opener 7 to 4 on Clay Bryant's 11th pitching victory, but lost the nightcap 5 to 0 as Jim Turner shut them out with five safeties.

In Philadelphia, the Phillies took 5 to 2 victory from the Cardinals as Claude Passeau pitched 6 hit ball but the Cards took the nightcap, seven inning affair curtailed by rain 5 to 1 as Johnny Mize hit a home run.

Old Timers Win Over F. O. E.

Exciting Softball Game Features Annual Eagle Picnic Sunday Afternoon

Members of the regular Eagles softball team were shown up Sunday afternoon, when they were defeated by the old time Eagle stars, in an exhibition game at Willow Grove. The game was a feature of the annual Eagle picnic, being held in the Grove.

Boss pitching for the Old Timers pitched a no run, no hit game. "Golf" Snyder hit two home runs and then struck out a three bagger with two men on base, to score for the winners. Henry "Sluggo" Navarro, hit a two bagger.

"Horset" Jess Davis and Thomas Cunningham umpired the game. The old timers have challenged the regular F. O. E. team to a game anytime in the future.

Favor Armstrong To Beat Ambers Wednesday Night

Believe That Henry Armstrong Is Every Bit As Good As Terry McGovern

TREMENDOUS ODDS QUOTED ON HENRY

By LAWTON CARYER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—"The Black Terry McGovern!"

Henry Armstrong earned that name for himself months ago and has done better than just live up to it since, for today he stands as champion of two divisions and challenger in another, with pugilistic history to be made if he can beat Lou Ambers Wednesday night at the Polo Grounds.

The betting odds are running for him at 13 to 5 to become the first one-man championship triumvirate, with only a scant few insisting that another pugilistic upset is about to be perpetrated. This minority gives Ambers a chance to break one of the most amazing records ever compiled.

"Armie" Is Good

Armstrong has knocked out 35 of his last 38 opponents and against Ambers will be attempting to take the lightweight title within 10 months of the time he became featherweight ruler by knocking out Petey Sarron and within three months of his ascending the welter throne on a decision over Barney Ross.

Into the ring again, the little Negro from St. Louis and Los Angeles will bring the most relentless attack and the fastest pace displayed in the smaller divisions in years, along with a good punch and the ability to take it.

Ambers Can Punch

Against that Ambers will offer a jumping jack style of bounding all over the premises, accurate but weak hitting with both hands, speed, smart boxing and a fighting heart that would do for a whole pen full of lions.

Hence, most followers expect a free-for-all for six or seven rounds, then gradually an Armstrong victory like all the rest. The cumulative effects of dozens of punches and the pace he sets kills off his opponents finally and quite definitely.

He is one of the most devastating glove-thrusters boxing has produced, a savage little man in the heat of battle as he stalks his prey, drooling from the mouth, blasting from all angles and everlastingly banging away until finally there is no prey.

Likes Poetry

Outside the ring he dabbles in poetry, and is as quiet, sedate and proper in his manner and as meticulous in his speech as a professor lecturing before a women's club. Well, almost, anyhow. He is amazingly gentle for a ring killer. A high school graduate and well read. His real name is Henry Jackson and he is 25.

Ambers has no time for poetry and such. The little Italian, born Luigi D'Ambrosio in up-state New York 24 years ago, is interested in just one thing at the moment—slaying lightweight champion as long as possible.

Overnight Sports

(International News Service)
Henry Armstrong-Lou Ambers title fight at Polo Grounds Wednesday will see two fighters with radically different styles meet for the lightweight championship.

Rambling Around World Of Sports

Atmosphere slightly "footballish." Although the "major leagues" are hogging most of the sport attention, the close atmosphere already smells a bit "footballish" and our mail warns us that it won't be long until the gridiron dogs their uniforms. Locally, the football season starts shortly after Labor Day, with Class B schools starting to replace the national pastime.

The mail informs us that Penn State will broadcast four of its games, namely: Maryland at Penn State, October 1; Bucknell at Penn State, October 8; Syracuse at Penn State, October 28; and Lafayette at Penn State. And, again we are warned about West Virginia. Those rumors continue to hit our desk concerning the Mountaineers who may halt the march of the Panthers.

If you are interested in the Southwest Conference, the mail says they "finish something like this: Rice, strong as ever; Texas Christian will have the strongest line thereabouts and rates an even chance to dump Rice; Texas A. and M. is crowded with freshmen; Southern Methodist will be plenty tough, having one of the best front clubs in the history of the school coming up; Texas University will have a better balanced club and will be a bit tougher; Baylor suffered too many losses and figures to be just one of the teams in the conference; we could go on if it wasn't for the heat which makes our temperature rise at least five degrees, especially when we think about football.

A few figures on golf. Golf is an important sport and industry to the U. S. A., pipe these figures and judge for yourself: About 55,000,000 rounds of golf are played annually in this country. Some 1,500,000 players, rated as spasmodic golfers, contribute something like 5,000,000 rounds. About 1,500,000 regular contributors to the balance. Clubs cost nearly $5,000,000 yearly and bag replacements something close to $500,000.

Strictly Big League stuff. Many of the 43,000 or more fans who watched New York defeat Cleveland Friday, left the stadium wondering if they had witnessed a baseball contest or a "walkathon." Feller dished out a mere 11 Annie Oakleys to the Ruppertians. A round Manhattan, Bob Seeds is credited with being the Giant player who is keeping the club in the race.

Clubs cost nearly $5,000,000 yearly and bag replacements something close to $500,000.

Just wondering. What happened to Joe Louis? And Bill DeCortvont the Chicago football wizard who is supposed to be even better than Red Grange? Where are those scribes who picked Pittsburgh way down the line?

Gehring Named As Most Valuable

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Charley Gehring, Detroit Tigers baseball star, today acknowledged the plaudits of fans who named him the most popular major league second baseman.

Charley was picked over Billy Herman of the Chicago Cubs, in a nation-wide poll to determine an All-American team.

Joe Gordon of the New York Yankees, and Bobby Doerr of the Red Sox, finished fourth and third, respectively. Last week fans baled out in the same poll chose Lou Gehring of the New York Yankees, the most popular first baseman over Jimmy Foy of the Boston Red Sox, and Hank Greenberg, Detroit.

The fans' loyalty will mean a new automobile for Gehring. Voting on other positions on the imaginary team will continue.

Sylvan Heights Golfer Makes Ace

Charles Perrotta Scores First Hole-In-One Of Year Sunday

Charles "Ace" Perrotta, of Croton, scored the first hole-in-one of the season at the Sylvan Heights course this year, when he dropped one into the cup on No. 8 green, a 137 yard par three hole, on Sunday.

Perrotta was playing in a four-some which included Dom Denico, Joe Mazzari, and Tobe Penati. Denico and Mazzari each had birdies on the hole, and Denico was but two feet from the cup stopping short or he might also have scored another hole. On the second tie around the course, Perrotta scored a birdie two, showing that it was not entirely luck.

Don "Chico" Lionelli "Tapper" Jackson and "Germany" Barlett were witnesses to Perrotta's feat, as they were standing on the green while the quartet drove off, before putting in, and watched the ball trickle into the hole.

Penati, who hits an exceptionally long ball, drove the No. 17 green, a 320-yard hole, and just rimmed the cup for an eagle on the second shot. Mazzari was also on the apron with his tee shot.

Party loyalty: The realization that you will lose your place at the trough if you don't play ball with the party bosses.

Market Trading
Is Active TodayMarket Weakens After Firm
Tone At Start, Selling
Causes UnsteadinessBy LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The stock market weakened today after a firm tone at the start. Selling inspired by the new far eastern clashes wiped out early steadiness and brought losses running to more than a point in leaders.

Trading was active at the start. There were numerous large blocks on the tape running to 5,000 shares in radio. Activity quieted down during the later reaction.

While the Russo-Japanese impasse was the dominating influence, there was considerable profit-taking in the market as well, following the strength at the close of the week when new highs were established.

Some of the higher-priced issues displayed thin markets. Philip Morris fell more than 2 points, and DuPont more than a point. Allied Chemical ran up 2 at the start and then lost most of this.

Steels were sluggish from the opening when prices were down in the group. On the later reaction, both Bethlehem and U. S. Steel dropped more than a point each.

Chrysler gave ground in the auto section and was off over a point at one time. General Motors was firm, opening just 1/2 under its 1938 high and 2,000 shares and holding above its previous close in the forenoon.

The coppers came under pressure, with Anaconda and American Smelting losing a point each. Phelps Dodge was a firm exception.

Early advances in rubbers were replaced by declines exceeding a point in U. S. Rubber. Rails sagged though Union Pacific held half a 2-point rise. Utilities and aviation gave way. Farm implements weakened, as did mail orders.

American Telephone was a firm individual issue. Radio was another after opening on a block of 6,000 shares.

The far eastern tension was reflected in a new fall in foreign currencies. The British pound led the major alien moneys into new low ground.
